Program leadership

Professional MSc in Machine Learning, Université de Montréal and Mila 2018 -

Professor responsible for the program; co-responsible with Guillaume Rabusseau since 2019.

Every student completes an industry internship, most of them partly funded through Mitacs Accelerate. As program lead, I have been the named principal investigator on over 80 of these internships since 2020. They are program grants, not research funding, and are not counted under Research grants.

Internships by sector, with example projects:

- Energy and utilities: solar-irradiance and load forecasting, hydro-turbine and alternator monitoring, power-grid planning, smart buildings
- Health and life sciences: retinal-image diagnostics, brain-lesion detection in MRI, burn assessment for first responders, assistive vision for blind people
- Machine learning methods: AutoML and hyperparameter tuning, efficient inference, differential privacy, causal discovery

- Media and entertainment: automatic trailer generation, haptic effects from film, game exploration with reinforcement learning, generative fashion imagery
- Drug discovery and chemistry: molecular representation and search, drug–target interaction, SARS-CoV-2 therapeutics
- Finance and insurance: volatility surfaces, high-frequency forecasting, insurance claims from images, real-estate valuation
- Recommender systems: federated recommendation on mobile devices, restaurant and food-ordering recommendation
- Vision and robotics: inspection robots, semi-supervised and active-learning object detection
- Industrial processes: acoustic fault detection, bioprocess forecasting, electronics quality control
- Language and speech: dialogue systems, factuality of LLM outputs, document information extraction, speech to intent
